Musical notes of St. Luke's Church.

The St. Luke's Church quartette, probably the most competent and artistic in the city among our colored vocalists is composed of Messrs. Nettie Murray, Marie James, Dr. Walker and Mr. William H. Fossett.

This quartette should be heard to be appreciated.

This quartette is supplemented by a large chorus of acceptable voices.

Each Sunday evening the musical portion of the church is accompanied by a competent orchestra.

On the second Sunday evening in each month during the present season a sacred service of song will be given by the choir.

At all the services of the church the strangers and visitors are cordially welcomed. The seats are free, and polite ushers are always in attendance.

VIEW OF ANASHVILLE LAWYER

The colored people of the South, though they have not always felt as now, realize that their best interest lies in the cultivation of a friendly feeling between themselves and their white neighbors and they propose henceforth to give their hearty support to any effort of President Roosevelt to bring about this result. Whenever the sympathy and support of the best classes of Southern white men can be enlisted in securing the colored man his civil and political rights under the law, there will be no more trouble about the matter. He will get them and all will be peace and tranquillity.

"Yes, the Booker T. Washington idea of industrialism is taking strong hold in the minds of both the colored and white people all over the South. Everywhere he is looked upon as the great apostle of industrialism and honored for the stand he has taken in inspiring the colored people with a proper appreciation of the importance of working out their destiny along lines of industrial and material advancement. The school at Tuskegee is not only doing a great work within itself for the colored people of Alabama, but its influence is spreading all over the South, and on almost every hand the inspiration of a new industrial period is taking hold of the people and they are moving forward with new hope. Not only is Mr. Washington's idea of industrial education taking strong hold on the people, but his time he may yield and be silent for idea of the relationship of the two races is being heartily indorsed and is doing a great deal toward bringing about an era of confidence and mutual good feeling between the white and colored people of the South."

Prince George County Politics.

The advent of Robert H. Key into Prince George County politics put new life into the work. Col Key has opened the Key Stone Park at Suitland, Md., and is putting his characteristic energy into the campaign in instructing voters and in bringing the leaders together. A big republican mass meeting was held at Suitland last Saturday night, Oct. 26th, when more than one thousand active republicans were present. The meeting was addressed by the State and local candidates and much enthusiasm was put into the work. Mr. Horace Crozier, one of the most successful and wealthy truck farmers in Prince George County and active in Prince George politics, presided at this meeting. Among the speakers present were Mr. Wm. N. Fisher, candidate for State senator; Mr. Jas. P. Curley, and Jas. H. Sheave, candidates for the house of delegates, John N. Hardesty, candidate for sheriff, Wm. R. Smith, candidate for register of wills; Wm. D. Pyles, candidate for road commissioner, John Hawkins and others.

The meeting was opened promptly at 7 p. m., with music by the Key Stone Park orchestra. A large number of voters from the various parts of Prince George county were present and the meeting was held until a late hour in the night. Col. Robert H. Key has lost none of his quondam popularity.

An Item.

When Capt. David J. Gilmer, of the 49th U. S. V., returned from the Philippine Islands, he brought a little Filipino boy, the son of a chief, to be educated. This young man was placed in the schools at Greensboro, N. C., and made such rapid progress that Capt. Gilmer has sent him to Springfield, Ill. to enter school at that place.
